

Mission

Leadership AV's mission is to introduce the ProAV industry as a career option to female college students currently enrolled in a four year bachelor degree program entering their junior or senior year. The focus will begin locally and evolve to include international internship opportunities. Our goal is to convert two or more participants to full-time employees annually as employees of Stampede Presentation Products or within the global Pro-AV market.

Overview

During the academic year, Leadership AV connects students with a Stampede mentor who will guide them in learning about the professional audio visual industry, professional development workshops and interact with industry experts in open discussions. The program includes a competition day, when selected partner teams will present a final project presentation to be judged by a panel of Stampede executives and distinguished guests. Winners will be chosen based on the quality of their presentations. The winning team will be awarded an opportunity to attend InfoComm International®. InfoComm International® is the trade association representing the professional audiovisual and information communications industries worldwide.

Stampede Presentation Products

World renowned for providing industry-leading AV and IT system solutions for dealers in every major vertical market, Stampede Presentation Products Inc. is the oldest and largest provider of ProAV solutions.

Since 1998, Stampede has turned conventional wisdom on its head, pioneering the commercialization of innovative new technologies, platforms, products, and services that make designed & installed systems much more effective.

Leadership AV

The Leadership AV Program is designed to inspire students to be a part of the ProAV industry through a series of comprehensive and informative monthly meetings which will include a wide variety of activities from company visits, presentations, job shadowing, mentoring talks and business outings.

The most critical part of our program will be to introduce students to women who currently hold key roles within the industry involving functional roles in Leadership, Sales, Marketing, Operations, and Product Management. These industry leaders will not only showcase their companies, but give an overview of the ProAV landscape, career prospects and leadership trainings that will enhance their industry readiness.

End Result

By the end of the program, students gain a better understanding of U.S. and International business practices, expand their professional network and improve skills such as problem solving, teamwork and public speaking.

Leadership AV Program Features

- Earn real-world experience and knowledge through coaching sessions with an industry mentor.
- Gain a practical understanding of U.S. and global business practices.
- Collaborate with senior industry executives, analyze business problems and gain hands on business experience.
- Share new knowledge and present results during monthly sessions.
- Build job search skills, including presentation, communication, and advanced interviewing.

Industry Statistics

The global pro-AV market grew from $75.5 billion in 2012 to $91.8 billion in 2014 and is forecast to reach $114.2 billion in 2016.
